JUSTICE GOFF TO TRY BECKER'S CASE

Transferred to the Criminal Branch of Supreme Court.

Two Alleged Refuges Conducted by the "Vice Trust" Discovered.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—On the application of District Attorney Whitman the case of Police Lieutenant Charles Becker, charged with the murder of Herman Rosenthal, was transferred today from the court of general sessions to the criminal branch of the supreme court before Justice John W. Goff, sitting in extraordinary term. Justice Goff granted the application, agreeing not only that Becker should be tried before him, but that he should plead to the indictment before him. Becker was not in court.

Mr. Whitman also obtained from Justice Goff authority to examine the grand jurors who are to sit during the extraordinary term in connection with the John Doe proceedings into police graft. He made this request in view of recent disclosures that a number of men on the panel had realty holdings used by gambling establishments and disorderly houses. The prosecutor desires an absolutely uninterested set of men before proceeding with his investigation.

Becker was arraigned before Justice Goff for pleading shortly before 11 o'clock, but still refused to plead on his counsel's advice that the indictments had been "improperly and illegally found." By direction of Goff a technical plea of not guilty was entered for the prisoner. Counsel for Becker protested that he was not ready to go to trial and insisted that he needed a week at least for further preparation.

Justice Goff quickly overruled four motions brought by McIntyre to obtain a delay, and at Mr. Whitman's request set the trial for Tuesday, September 10. After a conference with Mr. Whitman the date of the trial was changed by Justice Goff from September 10 to September 12. This was done because Becker's counsel refused to waive the usual two days allowance granted after the opening of a term of court.

In hope of catching sight of the prisoner, crowds gathered early at the criminal courts building and others, more hardy and less obtrusive, stood patiently in the rain under the "Bridge of sighs", which spans the street between the Tombs and the court room. Justice Goff also is to have charge of the so-called John Doe proceedings into the various ramifications of police graft, but plans for this inquisition will depend somewhat upon the disposition of Becker's case.

Aside from the arraignment of Becker, most interesting of the day's developments in the Rosenthal case was the discovery by the district attorney's office of the two alleged refuges, conducted by the so-called "Vice trust", and the report that a considerable sum of money belonging to Becker had been traced to Port Jarvis, New York. The refuges uncovered were said to be a hotel in Hoboken, N. J., and four cottages at Centreville, Sullivan County, N. Y. where workers of the underworld, who might be sought as witnesses for the prosecution, could hide their time quietly until the storm blew over.

COUPE IN LIVERPOOL.

Eye-Witness of Rosenthal Murder Wanted by Whitman.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 3.—Thomas Coupe, formerly night clerk in the Elks Club in New York city, and an eye witness to the murder of Herman Rosenthal, was met by detectives when steamship Lusitania docked here today. He was not placed under arrest, but was accompanied to a hotel, where he refused to make any statement until he had consulted with friends.

Two local detectives met Coupe as he left the steamer and informed him that District Attorney Whitman of New York wanted him to return as a witness for the trial of Police Lieutenant Becker. He willingly accompanied them to a police station where a consultation was held, then went to a hotel.

"I am not going back to America," said Thomas Coupe this morning at the police station here, to which he willingly accompanied the detectives who met him on board the Lusitania.

The plain clothesmen informed Coupe that District Attorney Whitman wanted him to return to America and testify as an eye-witness of the murder of Rosenthal. He replied later by saying: "The only people who could protect me are really my enemies and I doubt very much whether they are really anxious to have me back."

Coupe continued: "I have been night manager at an expensive hotel in New York and I know something. I can tell you there is hardly a single policeman to be relied upon. In any case I have made my pile and am glad to be home among my friends. Certainly I am not going back to America unless my friends advise me to do so." Afterward Coupe proceeded to Preston, about 28 miles from this city, where his father has a large dry goods business.

MET BY DETECTIVES.

Coupe Among Those Counted Upon to Testify at Becker's Trial.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Thomas Coupe, met today by detectives at Liverpool, is one of the few actual eye-witnesses to the murder of Herman Rosenthal. He left New York last Tuesday at midnight on the Lusitania. Two days later word reached District Attorney Whitman that he had disappeared. Whitman said at the time that he feared the beginning of attempts to spirit away witnesses, but he added he had no legal way of detaining Coupe. He had testified before the grand jury and had been counted upon to take the stand at the trial of Becker and others charged with the Rosenthal murder.

RAILROAD TRAINS RUN BY AMERICANS.

Communication Beween Corinto and Managua.

Conditions in Vicinity of Granada Growing Worse.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—Admiral Southerland, cabling the Navy Department at 11 a. m. yesterday, reported the re-establishment of railway communication between Corinto and Managua. The trains are being run by American bluejackets and the line is being operated under the management of American naval officers.

It is believed here that the navy soon will have the situation well in hand, as far as teh control of lines of communication between Managua and Corinto is concerned. Admiral Southerland makes no mention of the reported killing of two marines by rebels at Managua.

Despatches from Minister Weitzel, however, represented conditions growing worse in the vicinity of Granada. The minister's despatch confirms press reports of sugerig of the people practically without food supplies General Mena's, violation of the truce, which had been arranged through the Salvadorean minister, has so incensed President Diaz that he has refused to enter into another armistice.

AVERAGE VOTE EXPECTED.

Vermont Holds First State Election Previous to That in November.

WHITE RIVER JUNCTION, Vt. Sept. 3.—A three days' rain storm was still beating down on both sides of the Green mountains of Vermont today when voting began in the first state election in the country previous to the November election. No political apathy was anticipated today, and to guard against it nearly every polling place was well equipped with cabs and motor cars to bring the aged and infirm to the polls. Nearly all these conveyances bore the Republican or Progressive emblems although the Democrats had carriages in some of the cities.

Voting began in some cities shortly after 8 a. m., but in the smaller country towns the authorities waited until after chores had been done before starting balloting.

The regular Australian voting system obtains in Vermont, with the customary officers, check list, marking booths and registering ballot boxes. Chances for repeating are said to be minimized, for nearly all the ballot clerks know each voter personally. A state law provides for the closing of the polls in the 246 cities and towns at 5 p. m.

Toward noon the weather cleared in some parts of the state. The rain persisted along the Connecticut valley, but a fairly large vote was cast during the forenoon in a number of the small towns. A county fair in Rutland interfered with the interest in politics in that locality, but on the east side of the mountains the voting up to noon was heavier than usual at that time of day.

Reports received from various sections during the afternoon indicated that a vote of average proportions would be cast before the polls closed. According to most of the reports received, the anticipated deluge of votes was not forthcoming.

HORSE AND RIDER KILLED.

Trooper of the Fourth United States Cavalry Struck by Lightning.

BISBEE, Ariz., Sept. 3.—Trooper Saddler of the Fourth United States cavalry was struck by lightning and killed while riding near Fort Huachuca yesterday. Eight cartridges in his belt were exploded. His horse was killed.

STEAMERS REPORTED.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Olympic from Southampton for New York, reported 1,094 miles east of Sandy Hook at 10 p. m. Sept. 2, will dock about 8 a. m. Thursday.

SIASCONSET, Mass., Sept. 3.—Kronprinzessin Cecille, from Bremen for New York, was reported 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 8 a. m., will dock about 3:30 p. m.

SIASCONSET, Mass., Sept. 3.—San Giorgo from Naples, reported 193 miles east of Sandy Hook at 5 a. m., will dock about 8 p. m.

AT THE ARMY AND NAVY Y. M. C. A.

Moving pictures were again given on the roof garden of the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association Saturday evening. A large audience of enlisted men was present, with the usual smaller audience on the street corner below.

Sunday the regular morning service at the Training Station was in charge of Mr. Sharwell. Mr. William E. Adams International secretary of the Navy Association for the Northwest, took part in the service.

The Sunday afternoon Bible class met with an unusually large attendance. Ensign Larkin of New York, an officer of the salvation Army spoke and sang several solos which were greatly appreciated by the men. Luncheon was served following the class.

PROBATE COURT.

In the probate court this morning the will of Ann Elizabeth Kelley was proved and letters tesamentary thereon were granted to William Loftus. Letters of administration on the estate of Ann Garrick were granted to Lewis L. Simmons, on the estate of Michael Kelly to Michael J. Sullivan and on the estate of Kathryn A. Champion to Nathan T. Champion. Walter R. Wightman was appointed guardian of the person and estate of Vinson Lee. The account of the administrator on the estate of Caroline A. Freeborn, showing distribution, and the first and final account of the executor on the estate of Abby Maria Jones, were allowed and ordered recorded.

GREAT BRITAIN DENIES DEMAND.

Submission of Canal Question to Hague Undecided.

Foreign Office Issues Statement Regarding Arbitration.

LONDON, Sept. 3.—A complete disavowal is given this morning by the British foreign office of a so-called official announcement that the British government will formally demand arbitration on the Panama canal tolls question. "The lines of action which lie before the British government are now being considered and any announcement of the kind is premature." This is the full text of the formal statement given out by the foreign office this morning in reply to requests for details as to the reported demand for arbitration.

In explanation of the publication of the report the officials of the foreign office said the plan was wholly incorrect, for no announcement had been made nor even decided on by the British government. The statement purporting to be official was issued by the Press Association and the Central News, two of the leading news agencies. It appeared at an hour when it was too late to obtain confirmation or denial, and all the London newspapers printed it this morning as a fact. Instead of this being the case, however, the Panama canal question remains in exactly the same position it has occupied for some time. The government will in all probability propose its reference to the court of arbitration admitting it to that tribunal has not been admitting it to that ribunal has not been decided upon. The foreign office has been throughout outspoken in its conversations with representatives of the press in the statement that arbitration is the only possible course.

Sir Edward Grey, the secretary of state for foreign affairs, and other members of the British cabinet have been scattered all over the United Kingdom and the continent ever since the Panama canal bill became law, and in consequence there has not been any opportunity to frame its program. It is possible that the government will await the result of the elections in the United States in the hope that the United States governmentmay find a way afterward of meeting British wishes.

The basis of last evening's announcement was an informal private declaration made by an official of the foreign office to the reporters of two news agencies. The reporters thought it was intended to be an official announcement for publication, but the denial issued by the foreign office shows that there was no such intention and the official had no authority to make any such statement.

Some uncertainty appeared to exist at the foreign office as to whether last night's announcement should be contradicted. A denial was sent out early in the morning, but later on the newspapers were requested to withhold its publication. A short time afterward the denial was re-affirmed and permitted to appear.

PLEAD "NOT GUILTY."

Wood and Atteaux Answer to Conspiracy Charges.

BOSTON, Sept. 3.—William M. Wood, president of the American Woolen Company and Fred E. Atteaux president of F. E. Atteaux & Co., dye and color manufacturers, pleaded not guilty in the superior court today to indictments charging conspiracy in connection with the alleged distribution of dynamite at Lawrence, during the textile strike last January. Dennis J. Collins, a Cambridge dog fancier, who was charged with conspiracy and participation in the alleged illegal transportation of dynamite, pleaded not guilty.

Wood and Atteaux furnished bonds of $5,000 each. Collins, who has been unable to secure bondsmen since he was arrested last week, was sent to the Norfolk county jail in default of $6,000 bail. No date for trial was set.

Atteaux, with his counsel Daniel H. Coakley, went to the office of the clerk of courts, where $5,000 bail was furnished by Charles E. Pitts of Medford and Fred M. Lamson of Brookline.

Atteaux pleaded not guilty when arraigned, but through his counsel reserved the right to change his plea later should he so desire. Collins also was formally arraigned and pleaded not guilty. He was still unable to furnish the bail fixed last week and was taken back to the county jail.

Mr. Coakley said after the court proceedings were ended that the reason his client reserved the right to change his plea later was for the purpose of attacking the indictment.

Mr. Wood, accompanied by his son and his attorney, Samuel L. Powers, arrived at the court house shortly after 9:30. As the court clerk asked Wood what he had to say to the charge in the indictment, he answered: "Not guilty."

Assistant District Attorney Lavelle told Judge Raymond that the bail of $5,000 had been fixed by a commissioner last week and was satisfactory. This ended the formalities in court and Wood and his counsel left the room.

Attorney Powers said later that he had not yet had time to become acquainted with the case and therefore did not know whether he would ask for a speedy trial for the indicted manufacturer.

DURING THE LAWRENCE STRIKE.

Inquiry Into Alleged Distribution of Dynamite Being Considered.

BOSTON, Sept. 3.—United States District Attorney French said today that a federal investigation into the alleged distribution of dynamite during the textile strike at Lawrence last winter was being considered. "An investigation," said Mr. French, "is in contemplation to see if there was a violation of the interstate commerce act in the transportation of dynamite without a label from one state to another. Such an offence, if committed, was of course incidental to the more serious offense of conspiracy charged against a mill owner of Lawrence."

FUR OPENING

And we would deem it an especial pleasure to see one and all on either of these three opening days, Thursday, Friday or Saturday, September fifth, sixth or seventh.

This evening's Daily News on PAGE 2 contains much further information and particulars of this big opening, which, as in the past thirty openings, will show people of Newport and vicinity what THIS YEAR'S LEADING FUR STYLES will be.

Once again we extend a general invitation to all to attend this most important event on either Thursday, Friday or Saturday, Sept. 5th, 6th or 7th.

FUR OPENING

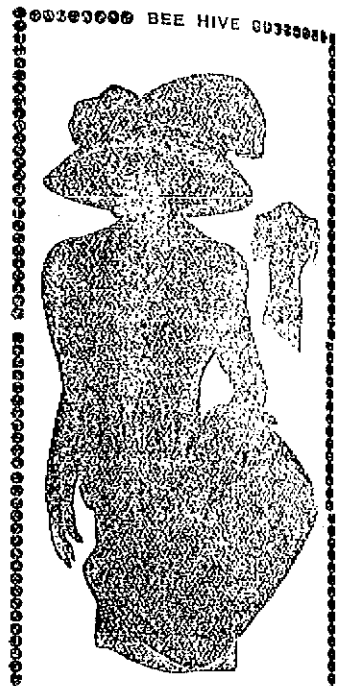

A TYPICAL 1912 MODEL

TAKES PLACE ON

THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 6 and 7.

OUR Annual Fur Opening is an event every woman should look forward to as an invaluable opportunity to acquaint herself with the definite trend of Fashion. Our shelves, counters and racks hold a superb array of accepted modes in Furs --novelties crowding upon each other's heels. Parisian inspiration, American brains and nimble fingers, and above all American patterns have created a brilliant fashion center of our store, an authentic index to the vogues of the day. Interest will naturally center in our showing of beautiful as well as stylish new Fur Coats, Muffs, Scarfs, etc., of such valuable skins as in Scarf and Muff Sets of Black Fox, Red Fox, Skunk Opossum, Skunk Racoon, Genuine Skunk, Isabella Opossum, Natural Racoon, Natural Opossum, Naerseal, Civet, Japanese Cross Fox, Kit Lynx, Wolverine, Genuine Natural Mink, Pointed Fox, Mole Skin, Black Wolf, Blue Wolf, White Thibet, White Fox, Real Persian Lamb, etc. Coats of beautiful lustre skins such as Black and Natural Russian Pony, Caracul, Hudson Seal, Near Seal, Marmot, Manchurian Mink, etc.

BEE HIVE

THIS YEAR'S MODE

If the prices for Bee Hive Furs are not from 1-4 to 1-3 lower now than they will be in November, you need not accept the furs you have chosen—that is guarantee enough that we are going to save you money now on furs.

If we were to hold this purchase (which was bought previous to the big fur strike) until November our profits would be increased from 25 per cent to 33 1-3 per cent, but we are going after a tremendous fur business this season and profits are not as important as "big volume." You'll be a booster for the Bee Hive Fur store when you see our values.

You are cordially invited to attend

"OUR FALL OPENING"

THURSDAY, FRIDAY and SATURDAY, Sept. 5, 6 and 7, Nineteen Hundred and Twelve

You will see the distinctive features that will appeal more strongly than ever to the style instinct of every woman who appreciates "distinction in Furs." We once again offer you the keys to our

to the Newport public and this year will prove no exception to our rule of always having an opening that can claim to be of the utmost pleasure and interest to every woman of discriminating fashion tendencies.

"THE HESS CO."

ALL FURS SOLD BY "THE BEE HIVE" ARE GUARANTEED AGAINST WEAR AND IMPERFECTIONS FOR ONE YEAR FROM DATE OF PURCHASE.

You may choose furs now, and by paying a deposit of ten per cent, we will store them free of charge until called for.

If you desire nothing more at this time than an authentic knowledge of what is right and best of the Fall styles in ladies' furs, attend this opening. It will guide you aright and give you a valuable understanding as to how much more fashion efficiency you can obtain here than elsewhere at your appropriation.

NINE INNINGS THIS TIME.

Trojans Win from Nebraskas With Ease—Two Games Saturday, But None Monday.

Saturday at Wellington Park the Trojans defeated the Montgomery team, 11 to 4, in what might be called a practice game, not being arranged until that day. Some of the Trojans were absent and their places were filled from the field. The attendance was small. Gillis and Carr, Schultz and Hinkle, were the batteries.

Sunday again the air man affected the attendance at the game, and the weather also did its part to make the number present small. It was with the Nebraska team, which played 19 innings with the Trojans August 4. As many innings were not required Sunday, for the Trojans had a comparatively easy time. Rosenberg did not pitch, but Baldwin, who played third in the long game, was in the box. He was touched up some, his support was ragged in places and at times, but no more ragged than the weather. The first four runs of the sailors, in the fourth, were gratuities, due to weird throwing by the Trojans. In the sixth the Trojans, on some hitting and wild throws, took a lead which gave them the game. The sailors hit some in the ninth, a double and a home run giving them two runs, but Sheehan tightened up and no more were scored, and Gibson.

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Trojans	0	0	1	2	1	3	0	1	x—8
Nebraska	0	0	0	4	0	0	0	0	2—6

Hits—12-14. Errors—5 each. Batteries—Sheehan and Carr; Baldwin and Gibson.

Saturday on the Broadway lot the Broadways won from the Training Station, 11 to 5. Byrnes pitched and Dillon caught for the victors and Hawley and Donovan for the Station.

There was no base ball Monday. The Trojans had two games arranged with Attleboro and the Broadways also had two. It felt more like snowballs than base ball and Jupiter Pluvius shut down on the games.

There is some talk of the Trojans playing a series with Cranston for the championship. Cranston is already the champion rainmaker—it has rained three times when the team was billed for Newport—and is also champion of its class. It looks like a good chance to secure a little more rain for Newport.

MISS ISELIN'S WEDDING SET FOR SEPTEMBER 18.

Arrangements have been made for the wedding of Miss Therese E. Iselin, daughter of Adrian Iselin, Jr., and Irwin B. Laughlin, First Secretary of the United States embassy at Berlin. Mr. Laughlin has been the guest of his fiancee at the Pinard cottages for several days. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride's father in New Rochelle, at noon September 18.

With the exception of George M. Laughlin, who is to act as best man, there will be no attendants. The bride will be given away by her father, and after a short honeymoon in America the couple will start for Europe October 1.

ORGANIZING THE ARMY SUPPLY CORPS.

Re-organization of the quartermaster's, commissary and pay departments of the army into a great supply corps, headed by a major general, as provided in the recently passed army appropriation act, is rapidly taking form. As tentatively outlined, the plans provide four main divisions in the office of the chief of the corps. These are to be divisions of accounting, supplies, construction and repair, and transportation, each to have an officer at its head. In addition there will be an administrative division, with which will be affiliated the chief clerk of the office of the chief of the supply corps.

It is expected that Brigadier General Henry G. Sharpe, head of the commissary department, will head the new supply division, and that Brigadier General George R. Smith, the paymaster general, will take charge of the new accounting division.

ASSIGNMENT OF SUPERIOR COURT JUDGES.

The assignment of the superior court justices for the first period of 1912-13 is as follows:

Civil jury trials in Providence—Judges Brown and Stearns.

Circuit—Judge Baker.

Criminal calendar in Providence—Judge Rathbun.

Miscellaneous calendar—Presiding Justice Tanner.

Judge Brown will have charge of juries and of the calendar.

IN MEMORY OF GENERAL BOOTH.

Special Service Held by the Salvation Army, With Addresses by Clergymen and Others.

The Salvation Army memorial service for the late head of the organization, General Booth, was held Sunday afternoon at the First Baptist Church, the program announced in The News being followed. The Army flags were tied with white ribbon, and each member wore a white band on the arm, a letter S surmounted by a crown, in red, being on the band. Flowers adorned the front of the pulpit platform.

Rev. Arthur Crane, pastor of the church, presided; Rev. W. H. Bath of the Thames Street Methodist Episcopal Church offered the invocation and at the close of the service pronounced the benediction. The others taking part were Captains Beeching and Ruttan and Rev. Messrs. Sproul, Hughes and Hulbert, making six large divisions of the church represented, besides General Secretary E. O. Andrews of the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association, and Mr. H. A. Tipp, who represented the business men. Walter Lowrie club men made up the choir, and the regular organist, Mrs. Richards, played. Although it rained there was a good attendance of old and young and the service was such as to hold the attention of all.

QUESTION CLEARED UP.

News Readers Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence.

Again and again we have read of strangers in distant towns who have been cured by this or that medicine. But Newport's pertinent question has always been "Has anyone here in Newport been cured?" The word of a stranger living a hundred miles away may be true but it cannot have the same weight with us as the word of our own citizens, whom we know and respect, and whose evidence we can so easily prove.

WIN IN A WALK OVER.

Quakeress Makes up Her Handicap and Hugi Leads All the Way in Race Off Jamestown.

The second last race of the Narragansett Bay Yacht Racing Association for this season took place off Jamestown Monday, under the auspices of the Connecticut Yacht Club. It was postponed from the original date, August 3.

It was expected that there would be more boats, it being a holiday, but the weather interfered and there were only two classes, Q and I. In both the winner had a sort of walk-over, the Quakeress making up more than her handicap on each of the three rounds of the course and the Hugi having the lead in class I from start to finish. The wind was a stiff whole-sail breeze from about south of east at the start, veering to a trifle north of east. The course was from the clubhouse mark around the spar buoy southeast of Rose Island and back, three times around—eight miles.

At the start the Quakeress took the lead in Class Q and led all the way, gaining on every round. At the end of the first round the Nada forced the Moslem well to the south of the course, on the spinnaker run, and then shaping her course for the turn led the Jamestown boat by 16 seconds. She gained on each of the other rounds and was second.

In class I the Hugi went away in the lead and clear the Arrow being second. The Dorothy and Nada had crossed before the gun, but the Dorothy was back quickly. The Bat turned before reaching the line and was called back to go over according to rule. She lost fully half a minute by this mistake and was last all the way. At the end of the first round the Dorothy forced the Arrow past the mark and outside it, and then coming about led by seven seconds on the first round. She also led on each of the others and was second by a good margin.

At the end there was a mix-up. The instructions were to cross from south to north and leave all marks to starboard. This all the boats did except the Nada and Bat, which finished from north to south. They claimed that they alone finished right. All the others, however, finished both ways crossing from north to south, after passing "leaving the mark to starboard," so that the dispute did not affect the result. The summary:

Wind E. S. E. shifting to E. and E. N. E., good whole-sail breeze. Course, yacht club wharf around buoy southeast of Rose Island, three times around—8 miles.

Class Q, Start 12:51.

	Finish.	Elapsed.	Corrected.
Quakeress, G. B. Emmons	2:25:42	1:34:42	1:34:42
Nada, E. S. Parsons	2:48:09	1:55:09	1:51:19
Moslem, J. W. Lippincott	2:50:14	1:56:14	1:52:33

Class I. Start 1:00.

Hugi, A. P. Brayton	2:40:55	1:40:55
Dorothy, W. D. Wood	2:15:33	1:43:33
Arrow II, B. C. Hirst, Jr.	2:41:12	1:44:12
Bat, J. H. Caton, Jr.	2:48:20	1:48:20

Saturday at Bristol in the Q class the Little Rhody finished first, A. M. Chace's Idler second and the Nimbus III third. In the I class the Arrow II was first, Hurt second, Dorothy third, Rat fourth, Mouse fifth, Question sixth and Answer seventh.

Sunday afternoon, while in a friendly race with the Hugi from Bristol to Philadelphia, A. Manton Chace, lost her mast, which broke in two places. The boat was off Dyer's Island at the time and was towed back to Bristol. The mast was a new one, put in since the Idler buckled her mast at Fall River in race week. This is the second mishap Mr. Chace has had in the racing, within less than two weeks.

Adjustable Tunics.

This tunic, worn over a simple slip of white satin, is of Nattier blue chiffon, with a trimming of crystal fringe which adds weight to the edge of the tunic, making it hang gracefully over the skirt. A strip of lace crosses one shoulder and there is a narrow draped belt of Nattier blue velvet with a cluster of silver grapes.

LUXURY.

[Washington Star.]

Life is some luxurious upon a lazy day,
When your feet can idly wonder where the sun and shadows play,
The surroundings ain't so modern, but there's comfort in the plan
With the birds to make the music an' the south wind for a fan.

You haven't power an' glory to make mortals bend the knee,
But the rabbit runs an' trembles, jes' as skeered as he can be.
There isn't any limit to the terror you kin strike
If skeerin' critters is the entertainment that you like.

But if you'll jes' keep quiet tiny birds will come along
An' give a friendly wink an' ask you how you like the song.
The butterflies will flitter to show off their splendid wings
An' you'll have a friendly share in lots of interestin' things.

There are always duties pressin'. There are struggles we must win.
But it's fine to get acquainted with the world we're livin' in
An' take a lazy day an' go most anywhere to dwell
With the blossoms for a carpet an' the woods for an umbrell.

FANCIES.

Leap Year. She—Want to be my partner?

He—How much capital can you put in?

He—If you accept me it will make a new man of me.

She—And if I don't?

He—I shall never be the same man again.

"What's the trouble with you and your fiance? Is he jealous?"

"Well, he isn't exactly jealous, but he's what you might call old-fashioned. He doesn't want me to be engaged to anybody else."

No matter where you may alight
You'll hear the same persistent song:
"Our candidate is always right,
The other fellow's always wrong."

"What's the trouble?" asked the policeman in a great city.

"Nothin' in particular," replied Farmer Cornstock.

"Then what do you mean by standing on the corner and yelling for the police?"

"Well, I've read so much about you fellers in the paper that I jes' wanted to have a good look at one of you!"—[Washington Star.

"Do you think it would be wicked to go fishing on Sunday?

"Well, that would depend on whether the fish were biting or not. I don't see how it could be any more wicked to watch a cork floating on a stream on Sunday than it would be to watch a cloud sailing in the sky."—[Birmingham Age-Herald.

TEN PAGES.

THE PARTIES AND THE TRUSTS.

It is not strange that the trusts, the power they have gained in this country, and the manner in which they ought to be controlled occupy so large a place in the affairs of the government at present, for there is probably no nation on the face of the earth where so great a share of the activities are in the hands of corporations privately owned. That such a situation breeds trouble is not surprising and that this is of such proportions and such nature that the government has been compelled to interfere and take steps to try to lessen it and prevent its repetition is only to be expected under the conditions which have existed and still exist to a large extent, in other countries the great portion of the wealth and business activities is not controlled by private individuals organized into corporations to anything like the extent to which this condition prevails here, and consequently there is little trouble from trusts or combinations in restraint of trade. Capital is not dominant in other lands as it is in this and there is not the same necessity for regulating its use.

Naturally, when such an issue is so prominent in government circles it is prominent also in politics and the parties make it a feature of their platforms and declarations of principles. It is surprising, however, under such conditions that the political attitude toward the trusts and combinations of capital for business purposes is so lacking in sincerity. The issue is of sufficient importance to warrant the parties in laying particular stress upon it and endeavoring to do something through their influence to bring about a change in the situation. Yet they are really doing little in a practical way and for the most part are using the situation as a political matter, with the hope of influencing the voters to make a particular party victorious in the election rather than as a grave issue affecting the government and people and needing serious attention. When the parties take the latter position seriously and cease to allow themselves to be influenced by mere political motives in their attitude toward the trusts and capital there will be more done to control these combinations.

REFORM WHICH BEGIN AT HOME.

The adage that charity begins at home is to be understood rather as an expression of what ought to be than of what is, as it is notorious that it does not always begin at home. It is true enough that it ought not to be confined to the home, but that is another topic. We have lately had some occasion to notice that reform does not always begin at home, and that some persons who wish the general government to uplift humanity are not particularly eager to do any of the uplifting themselves.

Within a few years there have been two investigations of labor conditions in the steel industry. One is known as the Pittsburgh survey, being an inquiry into conditions in the steel capital of the country, under the direction of the Russell Sage foundation. The other was an investigation at Bethlehem made by the federal bureau of labor. Both disclosed deplorable conditions among a large part of the workers—low pay, prolonged working hours and unwholesome surroundings. A large part of the Steel Corporation's mills are in the Pittsburgh district. There has recently been an investigation of a twine factory in Auburn, N. Y., showing the women subjected to long hours, with meagre pay and unfavorable physical conditions.

The curious thing is that Medill McCormick, one of the principal factors in the Harvester trust, which controls the twine factory, and George W. Perkins, who is a leading figure in that combination and in the Steel trust also, are so profoundly impressed with the necessity of general action by the federal government for the "conservation of our human resources" that they have deserted the Republican party and are fighting against the President and doing everything they can to elect Roosevelt. They are deeply convinced of the importance of doing something to improve the condition of the wage earners, but the concerns in which they are large owners are hardly up to the general level in their care for the workers; that is, the common run of them—not the few highly skilled men.

PEACE AND GEOGRAPHY.

The United States certainly has the right man in the office of commissioner of education now. He has ideas—great, big ones; he will turn the world upside down, and put the better side on top, if we will only give him a chance.

He knows how to put a stop to war and usher in an era of universal peace. The Nobel prize ought to go to him at once. He says that if geography were properly taught there would be no war. No idea so remarkable as this has occurred to anybody since William Jennings Bryan invented or appropriated the idea that to increase the cost of living would bring about universal happiness. We did not adopt his method but we have the result, and everybody in Nebraska as well as out of it is complaining of the high cost of living, which many people attribute to the increased money supply. That is precisely the means which Bryan desired an opportunity to use, though he was going to increase the silver money and the gain has been in gold.

Commissioner Claxton thinks nations go to war because they are not very well acquainted with each other, and that if geography were so taught that we would form proper conceptions of the usefulness, beauty and multitudinous virtues of all other people there would be no war at all. He does not think nations fight over land or rights or interests or things of that sort, but because they are strangers to each other.

Geographies are cheaper than rifles, and infinitely cheaper than 11-inch guns The battleship Pennsylvania which is to be built as soon as possible will cost, armed and ready, $15,000,000. That would give a 75-cent geography to every school child in the United States and the tip should be given to all teachers that they must impress their pupils with the excellence of all foreigners so that they will feel no desire to fight them. According to one of Watts's Hymns for Infant Minds, now forgotten,

"'Tis to thy sovereign grace I owe
That I was born on British ground."

But the Claxton geography would put an end to all such provincialism and local patriotism.

CORN-BREAD TO SAVE THE TEETH.

If you wish to be independent of the dentist eat corn-bread. That is the advice of one of the surgeons of the navy, who declares that the corn-bread eating habit is responsible for the fine teeth of all the men from the South who apply for enlistment. Whether or not, it is literally true that the common use of this article of diet will make one free from the decay and injury to which the teeth of the average person are subject, it would seem like good advice. It is recognized both within and without the profession that food which requires considerable mastication and is of a somewhat coarse nature is helpful in keeping the teeth in good condition. They need frequent or constant polishing and hardening, which is done mechanically by rough food instead of by the application of a brush and powder or paste. Of course it would not do to throw away the toothbrush just because one ate corn-bread as a steady diet, but the use of that article would be less necessary except for cleansing purposes.

One difficulty in following the advice of this authority on dental matters is that corn-bread is not a common article of diet in this part of the country and it would hardly be possible for all who would like to have good teeth to travel South in search of it. Could not this doctor have gone a step further and advised the use of some other article of food which would accomplish the same purpose, or is corn-bread the only one which fills the bill? It would seem to the uninitiated as though there must be something else which would do nearly if not quite as well for those to whom corn-bread is an impossibility, since that can hardly be the only article of food rough enough in character and coarse enough in quality to have the same effect upon the teeth. Now let some other physician tell us what else will answer the same purpose. The dentists probably know, but we can hardly blame them if they do not tell. They would thereby infure their business, and so we must turn to the regular physicians for help. Will some one speak up?

Though the threatened trouble with Cuba over an assault made upon Hugh Gibson, charge d'affarres of the American legation in Havana, by a newspaper man has been practically settled by President Gomez's apology, there is still a little matter to be adjusted. While the Cuban president's explanation is accepted as sincere, the State Department is not quite satisfied. The prompt prosecution and punishment of the offender will be insisted upon, and President Gomez promises that that action will be taken without delay. Cuba is not likely to hold out against the demands of the United States.

Under a law passed by the General Assembly "messenger boys" employed after 10 o'clock at night are no longer boys, but men who have reached the age of 21 years. The stature was based on moral ground, as it was claimed that the boys were exposed to influences through their night work which were not for their moral good. The law became effective September 1.

Colonel Roosevelt insists that he is not in favor of socialism or socialistic ideas. He says the socialists seek to pull down in a spirit of hatred, while he would build up in a spirit of brotherly love. This is a distinction which will not please the Socialists, who are inclined to find the new leader a man after their own way of thinking. Neither will he be accepted by all others, as applying to the colonel's words and acts.

Thirty thousand sight-seeing Americans will sail this week from English ports, homeward bound after a summer in various parts of Europe. This number includes only the first-class and second-class cabin passengers, and they are coming home on 20 ships. There will be others later.

Labor day was not a success as a time for outings. The rain kept many from coming to Newport, and many who were here from going elsewhere. The resorts which looked forward to the day for a successful closing of the season were naturally much disappointed.

Among the last acts of the recent Congress was the making of an appropriation of $150,000 for the harbor of refuge at Point Judith. This large sum will not finish the work, but will go a good way toward it.

Mayor Boyle has not yet replied to the last two letters sent him by the Law Enforcement League. They were to the point and of a character calculated to call forth an answer of some sort.

The college students have received their first intimation that the new year is soon to begin, the football candidates having been summoned to take up their preliminary practice.

Dr. Elizabeth Rixey of Boston denies the statement of a Chicago clergyman that most women are knock-kneed. With the prevailing style of dress there is not much room for argument.

DYNAMITE AT LAWRENCE.

[New York Tribune.]

The charges which have led to the indictment at Lawrence, Mass., of Mr. W. H. Wood, president of the American Woolen Company, are almost incredible. The public will certainly not believe without the most positive proofs that he conspired to "plant" dynamite in Lawrence during last winter's strike for the purpose of discrediting the strikers. Mr. Wood makes a sweeping denial of the allegations and promises to convince even the district attorney who secured the indictment that he has been deceived.

It would be difficult to over-state the enormity and the stupidity of such a crime. Those who might be only too ready to believe a representative of capital morally debased enough for it must be slow to think that men picked for ability would show an utter lack of intelligence and foment the very class hatred which they fear. An employer who would be a party to deeds of violence intended to be charged to the account of labor, or even the stage setting for sham violence, is a worse public enemy than the labor man who explodes a bomb. The latter may damage property or commit murder. He may strive to stir up class antagonism in blindness and ignorance. The latter is guilty of the more diabolical offence of knowingly trying to fasten crime on innocent men and of endangering the very framework of society. He is sowing the seed of revolution and anarchy. If the discontented are made to feel not only that they must fight capital to secure their material interest, but that when they are in a fair fight capital will fiendishly try to lead them down with the burden of the very sins for which it most severely condemns the most reckless among them, passions are likely to be loosed whose disastrous sweep is beyond foretelling.

Every intelligent employer knows that his interest and that of his fellows, as well as the country's highest welfare, call for the most sympathetic treatment of the demands of labor and the most scrupulous regard for its rights. Differences at times are unavoidable, but anything that savors of trickery or persecution is as foolish as it is immoral. Plots and "plants" such as those which are alleged to have been made at Lawrence would do more for the spread of anarchy in a month than all the preaching of lawless agitators can do in a decade.

NEWPORT TRUST COMPANY
DIVIDEND.

The Directors of the Newport Trust Company have declared a dividend out of net earnings for the six months ending July 31, 1912, of six per cent (6 per cent) per annum, payable on August 31, to Stockholders of record August 16, 1912. EDWARD A. SHERMAN, Treasurer.

Newport, R. I. August 24, 1912.

COLONEL HARMON.

To be the New Commanding Officer at Fort Adams and of the Artillery District.

Colonel Millard F. Harmon, coast artillery corps, will bge the next commanding officer at Fort Adams and of the Artillery District of Narragansett. He has recently returned from the Philippines, where he was on duty in the inspector general's department as chief inspector of the military forces in the islands, and is now on leave of absence. Several months ago he was assigned to duty in command of the Presidio at San Francisco, but the recent death of Colonel William H. Coffin left the command at Fort Adams vacant and Colonel Harmon's orders have been changed and he will report for duty here after the expiration of his leave.

Born in Pennsylvania May 1, 1856, Colonel Harmon entered the Military Academy as a cadet September 1, 1876. Upon graduation he was appointed second lieutenant and assigned to the Fifth Infantry, June 1, 1880. In July of that year he was transferred to the First artillery; December 6, 1886, was promoted to first lieutenant and May 2, 1889, to captain in the Second artillery. He was promoted to major in the artillery corps November 7, 1900, and to lieutenant colonel, coast artillery corps, December 27, 1908. July 1, 1910, he was detailed to the inspector general's department and had been on duty in that branch of the service until his advancement to colonel, a little less than a year ago, when he took his place again in the artillery corps. He was an honor graduate of the Artillery School in 1890.

In 1908 he was ordered to Fort Greble, but was soon afterward detailed to the inspector general's department and did not assume his duties at the local post.

BAD FOR THE BEACH.

Two Stormy Days at End of the Excursion Season a Big Loss, Though Many Were There.

Two such days as those just past, at the end of the excursion season, have a discouraging effect on amusement enterprises, and the new beach association has had the ill luck to meet this experience in its first year. While Labor day marks the end of the resort business the country over, and the transportation lines will now begin to cut down their trips, the beach management proposes to keep its attractions going so long as the patronage warrants. Last evening the east section and a number of the stands were closed, as it is not to be expected that September business will make it possible to keep everything open.

The best part of the year is at hand for those who really enjoy out door life, and with fair weather again it is anticipated that the beach will continue a popular place for a few weeks longer. The past month has been a cold one and this has had a decided effect upon the bathing, but even good bathing days are coming.

Both Sunday and Labor day the weather was such that one only wondered just why there was so many at the beach. It was dull compared with what it would have been had it been pleasant, and yet the reputation of the restaurant has become such this summer that it had a good patronage in spite of the weather.

Two holidays coming in succession made it all the harder to have them both turn out stormy, since it was necessary to make preparations Saturday with the expectation that they were to be pleasant. This meant the laying in of large stocks of supplies, considerable of which being of a perishable nature, now must be charged to profit and loss.

THE PELICAN III.

Captain Willoughby Nearly Ready to Try Out His New Hydro-Aeroplane at King Park.

Captain Hugh L. Willoughby is about to make King Park the centre of attraction again, for his hydro-aeroplane, which he has been erecting this summer and which is to be known as the Pelican III, is nearly ready for trial. The plane arrived about a week ago and the engines, floats and other attachments have been fitted to it. A few days since the engines were run to test the pull, which was found to be about right, and a tent will be erected on the beach at the south end of the harbor to house the machine.

Jack McGee and Captain Willoughby have formed quite an acquaintance during the past week and the young aviator is a frequent visitor to "the Chalet," where the new machine is being put in flying tune. It has double the horse power of the one tried last year and the planes are larger.

INJURED HORSE KILLED.

Master Mechanic Moore Severely Hurt in Collision Between Automobile and Carriage.

About 10 o'clock Monday evening there was a collision at the corner of Broadway and Ayrault street which resulted in the necessity for killing a horse and severe injuries to John Moore, master mechanic at the Torpedo Station. In addition, the automobile is in need of repairs to headlights and fenders, and the varnish is marked up. The machine is a newly acquired piece of property, owned and driven by Mr. Benjamin Newton. The horse was the property of Preston Peckham of Jamestown and was driven by George A. Easton.

Each was driving on his own right-hand side of the road until just before the crash, the horse going up and the automobile down. When nearly opposite the street, according to bystanders, the course of the machine was changed for a turn up Ayrault. Apparently neither driver saw the other, though of course under the rules of the road, the carriage had the right of way. The horse was struck, but the momentum of the machine had been greatly reduced and five or 10 feet more would have brought it to a standstill. The impact and fall of the horse caused the breaking of three of its legs and Agent Hazard of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals was called to end his misery by shooting.

The sudden stopping of the machine threw out Mr. Moore, who was riding on the front seat, while Easton was also thrown out, landing on top of him. Two of Mr. Moore's daughters and Miss Julia Murphy were in the back of the machine and were badly shaken up. Mr. Moore was considerably cut and bruised, having five stitches taken in a cut on the face, while it is hoped that there are only bruises about the ribs. He had a great deal of pain all night and is still suffering, but thankful things are no worse.

Monday forenoon saw another accident at the Parade Corner. A cab belonging to Micah Pike rounded into Thames street from the square, hugging close to the left-hand corner, and according to an eyewitness ran into one of Quigley's automobiles, which was coming up Thames street on the right-hand side. The cab was somewhat injured by striking the hub of the machine.

INTEREST IN THE CLOSE OF THE ST. JOSEPH'S FAIR.

The St. Joseph's Church fair, which has been held in the basement of the new building for two weeks, closed Monday evening with the largest attendance of the fortnight. Interest in the voting contests and prizes was continued to the last minute. Many waited until the drawings had been completed, the Flanders automobile, which was the last to be decided, and regarding which the greatest number seemed to be concerned keeping many to the end. No one was present at the time who was entitled to the automobile or the ton of coal, and those who were present were of course disappointed that luck did not come their way. The 13 tons of coal were claimed today by Edward T. Lee, but up to 2 o'clock this afternoon no one had appeared to claim the automobile.

The fair will bring a considerable into the treasury of the church for the building fund, but it will be several days before Father Higney will be able to make a definite statement.

JAMESTOWN.

(Regular correspondence of The News.)

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Barber entertained about 20 relatives at a clambake at their home on Clarke street on Labor day. Owing to the threatening weather, the table was set on the piazza, which was decorated with green and yellow for the occasion. Among those present were Mr. Elisha Watson, Miss Watson, Mr. and Mrs. William Carpenter and Mr. Robert Barrett of Providence; Mr. and Mrs. William Barber and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Watson of Jamestown.

The Saturday evening dances and the music nightly will be continued at the Casino until the last week in September. It is expected that during the cool days and nights of this month the lounge room with a bright fire burning in the fireplace will be an attraction to cottage residents and late stayers at the hotels.

The annual clambake for the Carr descendants was held at the homestead on Carr's lane Sunday. There was a good number present, the younger generation predominating.

Miss Susie Brooks, who has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brooks has returned to Providence.

Miss Maria Carr, who was a guest at the Carr homestead over Labor day, has returned to Providence.

Standard Oil Company barge No. 62, the largest craft in this country propelled by gasoline power, is tied up at Ferry wharf. The craft is of about 800 tons displacement and was built to carry oil along the coast.

Mr. Benjamin Cottrell left for his home in North Carolina today.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—The Board of Aldermen will hold the monthly meeting this evening.

—Mr. and Mrs. John Spooner have returned from a visit to Portland, Maine.

—Steam yacht O We Ra, with Senator Aldrich on board, is here this afternoon for the Horse Show.

—At 10:30 o'clock this morning box 42 was sounded at the Training Station, calling out the fire fighters for their weekly practice.

—Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Roberts and Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, who motored to Newport from New York, were entertained at luncheon by Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Audrain.

—Superintendent of Schools Lull has arrived for the preparatory work before the opening of the schools, leaving his family still in the New Hampshire hills.

—Miss Emma Thursby, the well known prima donna; her sister, Miss Ina Thursby, and Miss Laura Stayton are guests of Mrs. Henry W. Bookstaver at "Wyn Wye" cottage, Purgatory road.

—Misses Katherine O'Connor, and Mamie O'Connor of Pawtucket, who have been spending their vacation here, being guests of Miss Annie Vaughan, have returned to their home in that city.

—Miss Lucila Allen and Miss Marguerite Ferrin, who arrived on French liner Niagara at New York early today, will return to Newport tonight, after an absence of two months in European countries.

—Messrs. Charles D. and George A. Schoeneman returned to Washington Monday night, after spending a month's vacation with their parents, Keeper and Mrs. Charles Schoeneman, at the Harbor Light.

—Torpedo boat destroyer Beale has been put in commission at the Philadelphia navy yard and will be assigned to the Fifth group of the Atlantic flotilla, which will consist of the Beale, Fanning, Jarvis, Jouett and Jenkins.

—The operator in charge at Dr. King's dental parlors had a warrant served on him this morning, charging him with practicing dentistry unlawfully; that is, without a state registry. Mr. P. H. Horgan gave bond for his appearance for trial.

—It rained Sunday. It rained Monday. It rained today. It did not rain much at any time, but there was a total of four tenths of an inch up to 6 o'clock this morning. There has not been much added since. There was more cold than rain, but the cold seems to have disappeared.

—The 10:30 car over the Providence road came in highly scented Sunday evening, having run over a skunk. Those in the car were safe, but as it passed through the street it could be noticed that it had been the an engagement, even if one could not see the results.

—The News wireless picked up a message from Portsmouth, Va., this afternoon which suggests that torpedo boat Flusser is to have new propellers for some reason, either because those she has have been damaged or because it is believed that a different pitch to the blades will give better results.

—Pullman car Independence arrived Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. McLean, who came for the Horse Show. Pullman car National arrived Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins, who are on their honeymoon and went out for a fishing excursion today. Pullman car Frisco is in today for Mr. and Mrs. Paulding Fosdick.

—The weather Monday was too much for steamer Mount Hope, or she did not have enough passengers for Block Island; any way, she returned to Commercial wharf without reaching Block Island. She went over today, but had few passengers. The season for Block Island is about at an end. So is the season at Narragansett Pier, and the Pier boat has ceased running.

—The paymaster reported at the local forts Saturday for the first time in three months and paid the soldiers a part of what was due them. As a result a soldier from Fort Greble reported at the Police Station this morning and paid for a game of glass which he had broken at the ferry landing July 2. He promised to pay for it and he had been forgotten, but he did not forget and came in as soon as he received his first pay.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Rea of Pittsburgh, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lester of Kansas City, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Childs of Ridgewood, N. J., Mr. and Mrs. G. Woodward Parker of Hudson, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Lehman of Philadelphia, Captain and Mrs. E. M. Olivea of Buenos Ayres, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Lowe of Brooklyn and Chaplain H. M. T. Pearce, U. S. N., and Mrs. Pearce are registered at the Perry House.

—Young Robert Grosvenor came down Touro street in an automobile this morning under high speed, on his way to the train. At the Parade corner he found that he had too much and went up on the sidewalk, but squared away and proceeded. From the depot he went up Marlborough street, but Officer Coggeshall had seen the speeding and placed himself in a position to intercept him. He took the young man and the machine to the station for fast driving.

BACK TO THE OLD HOME.

Labor Day Sharing With Thanksgiving in the Return of Former Newporters.

There was a time when Thanksgiving was the special day which Newporters came back to the old place for a brief visit, but Labor day seems to be also a favorite. Apparently they have more opportunity at that time, returning from vacations, and three days of grace to come and return afford some advantage over Thanksgiving or Christmas, unless the latter comes on Saturday or Monday. There is another difference—there was more of a hustling by taxis Monday night to catch the New York boat than ever before. The old style changes.

Frank E. Moriarty of New York, and Herbert C. Tilley, two old Newporters who have been absent a long time, were here Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion M. Smith, who have just arrived from St. Petersburg, and Miss Molly Smith, who came from New York, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus L. Wilbur of Middletown.

Henry A. Thorndike of New Bedford made his old friends a visit.

Mr. Edouard White of West Lynn spent Labor day with Mrs. Aimee Belts on John street.

Mr. Lucey-Baker of Providence, formerly organist at Trinity Church, spent Sunday in Newport.

Mrs. B. Mason Hammett and Miss Margaret M. Hammett of Brooklyn were guests Sunday and Monday of the Misses Hammett on School street.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Gilpin spent Sunday and Monday with Mrs. John Gilpin on John street.

Mr. Karl Anthony, agent of Adams Express Company at North Arlington, Mass., has returned there after a short visit to his parents on Catherine street.

NEWPORTERS PARTICIPATE.

Canonchet Lodge and Local Patriarchs in the Parade and Convention in Providence.

The members of Canonchet Lodge and Newport Patriarchs, No. 92, Grand United Order of Odd Fellows, went to Providence Monday to participate in the annual parade and convention of the New England branches of the order, the First District Grand Lodge and the Seventh Patriarchs Regiment.

The Seventh Patriarch Regiment chose these officers: President, J. E. Reed of New Bedford; recording secretary, C. H. Robinson of Boston; financial secretary, Edward Miles of Boston.

The First District Grand Lodge, No. 5, the Household of Ruth and the New England subordinate lodges adjourned their business sessions without electing officers. Each of the three organizations will hold a meeting next month for this purpose.

The next convention will be held next Labor day at New Haven.

In the evening the forty-seventh annual ball and reception for the Patriarchs and allied lodges was given by the Patriarchs No. 31 lodges and Households of Ruth of Providence. B. F. Brown of this city was one of the aides.

MR. KIRBY OF AGAIN FOR PANAMA.

Mr. J. F. Kirby left Monday for New York and sailed today on steamer Colon for Panama, where he is employed as foreman carpenter in the quartermaster's department of the Canal Zone. One of the first men to leave Newport to go to work on the canal, eight years ago, he says he likes Panama and that ships will go through the canal in 1913. Mr. Kirby was given a send-off by his friends, having been popular during his residence here. He played right tackle on the Young Men's Christian Association football team of 1903, of which Paul Murphy was captain.

PARCELS POST ON THE WAY.

No One Knows Just How the New Scheme Will Work in Practice.

Hepburn Hits at Bourne—Foss Applauded by Both Parties in One Speech.

[Washington correspondence of The News.]

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—No one has a definite idea just how the parcels post scheme is going to work out, but one thing is certain—the Bourne bill has made parcels post a certainty. We will have a system of parcels post in the future as sure as the sun shines. It may be defective as presented, and there may be many objections to the new law, but they can all be perfected in time. It is almost impossible to make and put in operation a complete new machine at the very first trial, but the great thing is that a start has been made, and parcels post will continue until we have a fair working system of carrying small parcels at a reasonable rate.

The progressive ideas of Senator Bourne have always been like a red rag to Senator Heyburn. And when the conference report on the postoffice bill was considered he took a last fling at the Oregon Senator, paying especial attention to the zone map which Bourne had made to illustrate his system. He referred to it as an "artistic map" and went on thus: "Men were appalled by it. It looked to them like a possible engine of destruction or some kind of an aero machine. It might represent anything. It looked like a zebra. It looked like a map of the heavens."

"Or oilcloth," interjected Senator Root.

"It looked like oilcloth," assented Heyburn. "That is a very excellent simile. It looked like this ornamented, figured oilcloth that you see on floors and slip up on it. The people will slip up on it, just as a Senator would stub his toe and fall down; then he would rip it up and throw it out the window. That is what the people will do with this thing."

There is a good deal of satisfaction from comparing other people's faults with our own virtues.—[Puck.

One day in the House Jim Mann was trying to get a bridge bill passed affecting Chicago. Congressman Blackmon of Alabama sought to have a little fun with the Illinois objector. "I should like to know if there is any ulterior motive in this bill," he said.

"I suppose you think the Republicans out in Chicago need a little something to bridge them over their troubles?" said Adamson of Georgia.

"I do not know but what they will," acknowledged Mann, who knows that there are political breakers ahead.

It takes a pretty good man to get hearty applause from both sides of the political aisle. Congressman Foss of Illinois did that in the House when discussing the naval bill. Here is a paragraph from his speech:

"Well, you had a great convention over in Baltimore. (Applause on the Democratic side.) I refer to the Ryanized-Bryanized-Tammanyized convention. (Applause on the Republican side.) [illegible] you had nominated by nine successive ballots the Speaker of this House (general applause), who has the affection and confidence of every member of it (renewed applause), you permitted William Jennings Bryan (applause on the Democratic side) to exercise the veto power on that Presidential nomination, and you did not have the courage of your convictions (applause on the Republican side) nor the nerve nor the virility to override that veto with a two-thirds vote." (Applause on the Republican side.)

The day that Poindexter of Washington and Williams of Mississippi had their tilt over Roosevelt, Williams had said that he was often wrong in his prophecies. A little later he predicted that Roosevelt would not carry more than three states this fall.

"I am glad to hear that," said Poindexter, "in view of the fact that the Senator has just said that he was wrong seven times out of eight in his prophecies."

"I confess the criticism is absolutely just," replied Williams. "As a prophet I am not known outside of my own country nor very reputably known as a prophet there. I have made a great many mistakes. I have often thought that the Democratic party would win and it did not win."

Senator John Sharp Williams cannot refrain from occasionally getting a long black cigar and smoking it, although he has had to curtail his vigils with "My Lady Nicotine" of late years. "I used to smoke four cigars a day," said the Mississippi Senator, "one after breakfast, one after dinner (lunch you all call it up here), one after supper, and then just before I went to bed I would smoke the last and think of everything that had transpired during the day and everything that I intended to do the next day. I can't do that any more. I get to thinking too much and get too wide-awake. It brings on nervousness, so I have had to stop that."

REPLACING REVENUE CUTTERS.

Oldest Craft In the Government Service and Two Other Noted Vessels To Be Retired.

Three famous revenue cutters, the Woodbury, Manhattan and Winona, will soon be discarded and replaced by new vessels authorized recently by Congress. Construction work will be commenced at once.

The Woodbury is said to be the oldest craft flying the government flag, having been in commission 47 years. She was engaged in both the Spanish and Civil wars. The new cutter which will take her place off the Maine coast will cost $225,000. The Manhattan, 38 years in the service, is the anchorage patrol for New York harbor. The Winona, patrolling the Gulf of Mexico, is 22 years old. These ships will be replaced by cutters costing $250,000.

A fourth vessel will be launched, to take the place of the Perry, which was wrecked two years ago. It will cost $250,000 and will be built to carry stores and coal which will enable it to make a continuous trip of 4,500 miles.

NEW DENTAL OFFICES.

Dr. Thomas Jefferson King, the famous painless dentist, will introduce his celebrated system of dentistry in Newport and give the people of this city the benefit of the highest class modern dental work at popular prices.

Thomas Jefferson, King, D. D. S. Originator of Dr. King's Restoration method, for the natural restoration of teeth—originator of the King Safe System of Painless Dentistry, and inventor of the "Natural Gum" Set of Teeth, etc., etc. All rights reserved.

OPENING INDUCEMENT.

$8 SET FOR $5.00

THIS OFFER IS GOOD ONLY FOR ONE WEEK.

At the expiration of this offer, the regular price for best set of teeth will be $8. Come in at once.

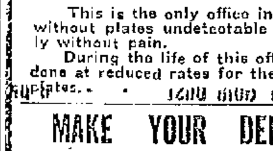

Dr. King's latest invention, the "NATURAL GUM," is acknowledged by the dental profession to be a wonderful improvement over the old artificial gum. It has always been easy to recognize artificial teeth in the mouth, but now, by using Dr. King's "Natural Gum," a set of teeth can be made by his method, and only by his method, that will absolutely defy detection. Ordinarily an extra charge of Five Dollars is made for the "Natural Gum," on the set, but for short time no charge will be made.

SOLD CHEAP MILK IN "HORLICK MILK" JAR

W. W. Pearce, manager at Park and Washington, pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace Belt to selling a cheaper grade of malted milk from jars in which "Horlick's Malted Milk" had been blown and when Horlick's Malted Milk was called for. He was fined $25 and costs. The complaint was signed by Food Commissioner Bailey, who is determined to stop the practice of substituting one brand of goods for another without notification of the substitution being made.—Oregon Sunday Journal, Portland, Oregon.

NOT A ONE-EXHIBITOR AFFAIR.

best seen here in many years, eight fine teams being exhibited, a show in itself. Several well known horses were in the list, including Lady Dilham and Elegant Dilham, Chatterbox and Guardsman, and Top Notch and Tip Guards man, and Top Notch and Tip Top. Several of these have been shown by other owners, but were in as good form as ever under new management.

Miss Rose B. Dolan, also a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Dolan, made her first appearance as an exhibitor and carried away some of the honors. Her hunter Circus, finely ridden by Miss Eugenia Ladenburg, took first prize in the novice class for hunters and jumpers, but fell out of the winnings in a later class. Miss Dolan also showed in the harness classe, with Roadmaster, but did not receive a prize.

The saddle classes brought out an excellent lot of horses and the competition was keen. The honors were quite evenly distributed between the entries of Godfrey Preece, J. Stewart Draper, W. A. McGibbon and Mrs. George Wallen. Mr. Ernst Voigt showed a handsome animal Merry Widow, in the novice class, it had good form and action, but did not catch the eye of the judge.

The show opened with the novice class for harness pairs, in which Lehman Strauss entered two and Frank Donovan one pair. It was not a specially pleasing class, and the honors went to Strauss's Newport and Seacliff.

The Seafoam novice class for saddle horses brought out 10 of the 15 entries. This was a showy class and the judge had hard work making his decisions, putting several of the horses through a number of try-outs. W. A. McGibbon's Maid Marian and Woodford secured the coveted ribbons, with Little Farm's Disraeli third and Godfrey Preece's Kingfisher fourth.

The Neptune novice class, for single horses in harness, had nine entries and all were shown, making a good display. The award of the first prize to Mr. Edward B. McLean's Royal Oak, his first showing in Newport, brought out the initial applause of the afternoon.

In the next class, for saddle horses up to carrying 200 pounds, with six entries, all were also shown. J. Sumner Draper's Apollo was first and Disraeli won his second prize of the day. Miss H. D. Atterbury's Kildare rather unexpectedly was not in the winnings.

The first jumping class, the Seaweed Novice, brought out six of the nine entries and there was some excellent jumping. Miss Dolan's chestnut gelding Circus, ridden by Miss Ladenburg, and Glen Riddle Farm's brown mare Long Smile made four clean jumps, but Miss Dolan's entry showed the best form and was awarded the first prize. It was a popular victory and Miss Dolan was all smiles as she hurried to the paddock to meet Miss Ladenburg.

As usual on the opening day, the show offered prizes to the Newport fire department, and this exhibit was one of the features. There were nine entries and each was filled, two hose reels and seven hose or combination wagons, driving into the ring and giving a fine exhibition. The apparatus was spick and span, the horses well groomed, and each seat had two firemen in uniform. The horses were driven at first slowly and then at a gallop, and after the teams had been drawn up to the judge's stand a number of them were given a further try-out, being sent at top speed around the ring. Finally the judge gave his award, No. 3's bays receiving the blue ribbon. No 7's chestnuts the second, Combination, 1's roans the third and Combination 2's blacks the fourth. The decision in this class took so much time that the events, which had previously been on time or a little ahead, fell back and at the close of the afternoon they were called nearly 30 minutes behind the schedule.

The combination ride and drive class, for a saddle horse shown first in harness and then under saddle, brought out all the 10 entries, and good ones they were. It was a long time before the judge announced his decision. The award went to Godfrey Preece's Ready Money.

The class for hunters, ridden by ladies, brought out five horses. Mrs. P. A. Clark rode her husband's Sam and made an excellent record over the jump. She rode in true hunting style. Miss Ladenburg on Miss Dolan's Circus gave a fine exhibition over the jump, taking everything in fine style, but her performance did not take the judge's eye. The blue ribbon went to Glen Riddle Farm's Willow King and Mrs. Clark was given the second prize.

Then came the tandems, eight of the 11 entries being shown. Mr. McLean had Ringing Bells and Chatterbox in one team, and Pride O' Prides and Guardsman in another; Emil Seelig showed Top Notch and Tip Top, Lady Dilham and Elegant Dilham were shown under the name of Avondale Farm, and there were other fine teams. Miss Dolan's Ringmaster and Pride of Jersey and J. Stewart Barney's Brown Lady and Beau Nash being the local representatives. It was a fine showing and after keen competition the award went to Lady Dilham and Elegant Dilham, which have won many prizes in tandems in all parts of the country.

The class for park and road hacks, judged as park hacks and to be judged today as road hacks, brought out 12 horses. Miss Eleanora Sears made her first appearance, riding Ready Money; Miss Ivers was on her Snapshot and Mrs. McKay rode Lady Debonair. There was a long judging and finally seven of the horses which stood south of the judges' stand were sent out and the other five were given a second try-out. The award went to Mrs. George Wallen's My Butterfly, with Mrs. McKay's Lady Debonair second, Little Farm's Disraeli third and Godfrey Preece's The Eaglet fourth.

Next came the class for local horses, and all the eight entries were shown, including those of Mrs. Rives, Mrs. James G. Wentz, Miss Alex Dolan, Henry A. C. Taylor, Miss Rose B. Dolan, J. Stewart Barney and Paul A. Andrews. Miss Alex Dolan and Mrs. Wentz drove their own entries, Mr. Andrews drove one of his horses to a jog cart and Miss Margaret Andrews the other to a phaeton. Miss Dolan was the favorite, while Mr. Taylor's entry caught the "trail birds," having the show style. The judge gave Miss Dolan the blue ribbon, the red to Miss Andrews, the yellow to the Taylor entry and the white to Mr. Andrews.

The afternoon closed with two jumping classes, one for thoroughbred hunters, which had six starters and the other, open to all, in which 13 horses were shown. The jumping was generally good, five horses in the latter class making clean jumps over the five-foot bars.

Coats and fall clothing in general were worn by the women, but some attractive costumes were seen. Mrs. Adolph Ladenburg, whose daughter rode in the show, was wearing a costume of white serge with touches of cherry, black and white. Her large Leghorn hat was trimmed with cherry, fluted ribbon. Mrs. Marsden J. Perry wore a coat suit of black and white striped serge with black buttons. A small white hat was worn with black ribbon and a white flowered veil. Miss Margaret Andrews had a blue serge suit and a small white hat with a blue aigrette; Miss Edith Wetmore's coat suit of tan serge was worn with a hat of black and white, and Miss Inez Millholland was wearing a blue voile suit and a white hat with a blue veil.

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont's white serge suit was worn with a white hat with white roses and black ribbon. Mrs. Alexander S. Clarke wore a black taffeta suit and a small black hat with black plumes. Mrs. Craig Biddle was wearing a navy blue suit and a black hat with peacock feathers. Miss Katherine Stewart wore white serge and a white hat with a black velvet crown and blue and white aigrettes. Mrs. French Vanderbilt looked well in a suit of grayish green and a black hat with wings. Countess Szechenyi's gray suit with collar of Dresden embroidery was worn with a small black hat with a bird of Paradise.

Mrs. Herman Oelrichs was wearing a blue wool suit and a small blue hat topped with pink hollyhocks. With a small black hat with blues, Mrs. Arthur Curtiss James wore a black satin suit with fringe in gypsier effect. Miss Charlotte Peil's messaline suit of black was worn with a small black hat with cherry ribbon. Mrs. H. A. C. Taylor wore a handsome costume of brown chiffon cloth and a small brown hat with wings of lemon and white. Mrs. William E. Glynn was gowned in cafe au lait voile and wore a small blue hat. Miss Dorothea Kane, Mrs Glynn's daughter, wore blue silk and a blue hat with a white aigrette. Mrs. James Griswold Wentz's coat suit of taupe meteor was worn with a small taupe hat with a rose of the same shade and cerise ribbon. Miss Alice Drexel was wearing a coat suit of tan serge with linen collar and cuffs and a black hat with black plumes.

HINGHAM, Mass., Sept. 3.—George P. Cushing, treasurer and general manager of the Nantasket Beach Steamboat Company, died at his home in South Hingham today, aged 64 years. He has been in failing health for many months. He is survived by a widow and one daughter.

CHARLESTON GATES CLOSED.

Admiral Cottman Sustained in His Fight Against the Saloon.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 3.—The Charleston gate of the Puget Sound navy yard, which was closed because the council of Charleston issued an addition saloon license in violation of an agreement with the navy yard, will remain closed. The Navy Department at Washington has sustained Admiral Cottman, commandant of the yard, in his fight against the new saloon. The new marine barracks is close to the Charleston end of the yard and Charleston merchants are deprived of the trade of the men because of the action of the council.

A "CURE"? FOR BALDNESS

The above expression is one which is used frequently in connection with hair preparations. Just exactly what is meant by it in each instance is a question. Baldness is not a disease and hence, does not permit of a cure. It is a result invariably to be traced to the dandruff germ and if the condition has become chronic, that is, if there is complete atrophy of the hair follicles, a "cure" is absolutely impossible.

Approaching baldness, seen in falling hair, may always be checked and if the hair follicles are not atrophied the hair may be induced again to grow.

This is accomplished by regular applications of Newbro's Herpicide which cleanses the scalp and kills the dandruff germ. The destruction of the germ does away with the accumulations of scarf skin and thus eliminates the most common enemy to beautiful hair.

Soft, glossy, fluffy hair cannot grow on a scalp infested with dandruff any more than a delicate plant can grow on an ash heap. The scalp must be kept clean and free from dandruff. The best remedy for doing this is Newbro's Herpicide which receives the highest endorsements from professional men, the stage and the best people everywhere.

Herpicide is sold and guaranteed in one dollar size bottles by all druggists. Applications obtained at all first-class barber shops and hair dressing parlors.

Address The Herpicide Co., Dept. R, Detroit, Mich., enclosing 10c in postage or silver for sample and booklet

THE HEAVENS IN SEPTEMBER.

Movements of the Planets During the First of the Autumn Months.

Gradual But Steady Transformation of the Sky With the Waning of Summer.

[Professor Eric Doolittle.]

Mercury is now a morning star. September 7 it reaches its greatest distance west of the sun and may then be seen rising in the northeast, about one and one half hours before sunrise.

Venus sets almost at the west point of the horizon, about 50 minutes after sunset September 1, which time is increased to about 1 hour 12 minutes by the end of the month. It is steadily drawing eastward from out the sun's rays, but, unfortunately, it is also moving southward over the sky so that throughout the entire month it can only be detected for a short while after sunset as it shines out near the horizon in the sunset glow. When once found it is seen very easily, however, as it is three times brighter than the planet Jupiter.

Mars is rapidly approaching its greatest distance from the earth and is hence only as bright as a second magnitude star. It may still be detected shining out near the ground, almost due west, for about one hour after sunset. On the night of September 8 the more rapidly moving Venus passes to the east of Mars and the two planets may then be seen near together in the western sky, Venus being north of Mars and at a distance away from it a little less than the apparent distance across the face of the full moon.

This is the last month of the year when the interesting Jupiter may still be well studied. It is very low in the southwest, just above the bright star Antares; when the change of the seasons has again brought this planet into our evening sky we will see that it has moved into Sagittarius, nearly across the Milky Way.

At about 20 minutes past 8 o'clock September 1 the observer may see the beautiful Pleiades just rising in the northeast, and an hour later the group of the Hyades will also emerge from the ground. The planet Saturn will at once attract attention in this part of the sky as it shines out half way between these two groups with more than twice the brightness of a first magnitude star. By the end of the month the planet will be well above the ground at 9 o'clock in the evening, and from this time on throughout the winter will be a most interesting feature of our evening sky.

As the planet Uranus is now well out of the Milky Way and in excellent position for observation in a small telescope, a map is added to help in its location. It is easily visible, even in a small pair of opera glasses, although it appears only as a small, greenish, sixth magnitude star. The reader may first find the triangle of small stars marked A in Figure 2, a little way to the right of which he will readily find the star marked B; the planet is five minutes to the right and one and one-half degrees below this star. In a good pair of opera glasses the two stars marked C will also be visible. These are considerably fainter than the planet and should not be mistaken for it.

Uranus is so very distinct from the sun that it receives but one four-hundredth part as much sunlight as we do. Day on Uranus is thus considerably brighter than our brightest moonlit night, but far fainter than the day with us. This world is believed to be vaporous, hot and rapidly turning, just as Jupiter and Saturn are. Its system of four moons, which move backward around their remarkably tilted orbits, are beyond the power of all but the largest telescopes.

On the morning of September 25 the full moon will pass a very little way into the earth's shadow and a part of its light will be cut off.

As the summer draws to its close we again witness the gradual but steady transformation of the face of the heavens into the autumn and early winter sky. The characteristic summer group of the Scorpion has half disappeared in the southwest; the great constellation of the Virgin has wholly gone, while the Balances, the Serpent and the brilliant, golden Arcturus have sunk nearly to the western horizon. Meanwhile the beautiful groups of Andromeda and Pegasus have already climbed half way to the zenith in the east, and again we welcome the royal star, Fomalhaut, which this month reappears to pursue its short course across the southern heavens after an absence of nearly a year.

If the observer will face toward the north on any clear, moonless evening of September, he will readily find the Great Dipper, now lying in a nearly upright position, slightly above the ground, while above this he may with somewhat more difficulty trace out the inverted and far fainter Little Dipper. Between the two groups lie the coils of the Dragon, which entire figure can now be easily traced out from the extreme tip of the tail below the North Star to the striking quadrangle of stars at M, Figure 1, which mark its head. All of its stars marked A in Figure 1 are easily seen double in a small telescope, and some of them are very beautiful objects. The highest star of all, at the upper end of the group marking the head, is a celebrated star, which 4,000 years ago was nearer the pole of the heavens than any other. Many early temples were dedicated to it, and it was worshipped in the Boeotian Thebes—the City of the Dragon. The remarkable modern discovery of the aberration of light was made from observations on this star.

On the opposite side of the pole from the Dragon there will be seen the brilliant yellow solar star, Capella, which now lies almost on the horizon. Above this stands Perseus, the rescuer of Andromeda, whose place is marked by an irregular group of bright stars, one of which is the wonderful demon star, Algol, five sixths of whose light is periodically cut off by the passage of a darker star between Algol and us. This star may be seen to have reached its greatest faintness this month on September 15 at 1 hour 3 minutes, A. M.; on September 17 at 10 hours 50 minutes P. M. and on September 20 at 7 hours 9 minutes, P. M. (Eastern Standard time).

Above Perseus there is the well known Cassiopeia, between which and the Dragon there is the rather faint but most interesting group known as Cepheus. At this time of the year the observer will have but little difficulty in tracing out this constellation, which includes nearly all of the stars along the Milky Way lying between Cassiopeia and the Northern Cross. With a small telescope he will find that each of the stars marked A is an interesting double, white at the point R, nearly midway between the stars L and K, and a little above them there is a remarkable red and variable star. This is sometimes of so deep a red as to be the reddest bright star of the northern heavens; at other times it is orange merely. Its color is best studied by comparing it with the nearby white star at K. Its brightness also varies irregularly, so that sometimes it emits more than twice as much light as at others.

It is interesting to note that were we on the planet Mars the north pole of our heavens would lie nearly midway between the star K and the beautiful white star of the Northern Cross at S. The former of these will be our own pole star when 50 centuries have passed away.

The observer has doubtless noticed how rapidly the very brilliant planet Jupiter has been sinking in the west. In a very few weeks this beautiful world, which has for so long a time poured out its steady, golden radiance in the south, will have left us for another year, although it will not actually enter the morning sky until next December. But just as Jupiter leaves our evening sky the magnificent ringed planet Saturn will enter it, and meanwhile the brilliant Venus is steadily withdrawing from the sun's rays in the west, so that throughout the entire winter we will have these two most interesting objects with us.

VALUE OF DOGS ON FARMS.

Trained Animals That Are a Daily Help Will Eventually Replace Misfit Workers.

[Farm and Fireside.]

In England and Scotland farmers learned long ago the value of dogs to farm work. There the universal custom is to have dogs daily do their part the same as trusty hired men. Here in America, however, few farmers know the value of a well-trained dog. We are the losers because of this fact. We will learn, of course, in years to come; and working dogs that are a daily help will replace the countless farm-help misfits now imposing on the farmer's generosity. If farmers realized the service a good stock dog could do them, the more eager would they be to change and own one.

It once happened that I worked my sheep dogs back and forth among flocks of sheep in the same place where many farmers were assembled in convention. The farmers witnessed the work the dogs were doing as I moved my sheep from barns to pasture, through gates and lanes. They were amazed to find them so helpful and wondered at their intelligence. They saw them go quietly around the edges of a pasture and gather in the sheep from far away, while I waited at the gate. They saw them herd the sheep along the lanes, doing work two men could not have done. And they profited by what they saw.

They began to believe, as I have long believed, that the useful dog will eventually be on most American farms when we get to studying more carefully for ways and means to save work and expense. It may be that on some large estates many different men are employed, thereby leaving little opportunity for any one to train a dog. But on the average farm this is not the case.

Any farmer tired from a hard day's toil would praise the faithful dog that would go the mile or two into the pasture to bring in the cows, while he prepared the feed for them. Any one would value highly the dog that could intelligently help to drive in the stubborn hogs or straying cattle.

I do not refer to the dog we find on many farms that knows only enough to run and snap at stock, driving them in whatever direction they care to go. Such a dog is of little value, for he drives the stock away as often as he brings them back to the pen they have left. Such a dog might have developed into a good one. It was the fault of the master that he was never trained. Let no man forget how important it is to have his dog well trained and carefully educated to do his bidding. The green, untrained dog is like the unbroken colt or the new hired man. Neither is good as a real helper until taught to do as you wish him to do.

The Public School Teachers' Retirement Fund.

(Legal Title) Incorporated May 6, 1898.

PURPOSE: To pay to teachers who have taught not less than 30 years an annuity equal to one-half the amount of salary received at time of retirement, to a limit of $600.00.

SOURCES: From teachers who must pay one per cent of their salaries to a limit of twelve dollars per year; from gifts, and from entertainments.

CONDITIONS: Because the fund amounts to only $32,535 the eleven annuitants are receiving one-quarter instead of one-half of their salaries.

NEED: Besides the eleven annuitants six teachers have taught thirty years and can retire in June if they wish.

TRUSTEES: Three members of the school committee, superintendent of schools, three teachers. The city treasurer is treasurer of the fund.

FORM OF BEQUEST: I give and bequeath to The Public School Teachers' Retirement Fund of Newport, Rhode Island, the sum of ——— to be applied to the uses of the fund.

Madam, do you want burning, red, rough, wrinkled hands? Do you want your hands to fairly shout that you wash clothes?

Ugly hands, withered fingers and ragged nails often come from using the wrong laundry soap. Few New England women have embarrassing hands nowadays, because they use Welcome Soap.

For this New England soap is carefully made of materials that are as good for the hands as for the washing.

One reason is the great amount of Borax, the great water-softener, in Welcome Soap.

There is more of this good soap sold in New England than any other.

A big cake 5c, of your grocer.

The Guarantee

Your grocer will give your money back if you can find a better laundry soap. Our great reputation, and the priceless good will of hundreds of thousands of users, are at stake in each cake.

SOME POLICE BUSINESS.

Several Arraignments Sunday, Liquor Raid Monday, and an Invasion by Hungry Pigs.

The police report for three days seems to be confined largely to one, Sunday morning; not that all things happened then, but that is when prisoners were arraigned. Frank Smith, who came from Fall River and borrowed a pair of shoes from a house on Dearborn street which is under repair, was fined $10 and costs, and not having the money went to jail. He took working there. When work ceased the a pair of shoes belonging to a man shoes were missing and a complaint was made. Later the owner caught the man on Broadway and recovered his shoes, and later the police arrested Smith. A man for assault paid $12.60 and a boy for assault paid $3. One man charged with assault pleaded not guilty and was released on bail, for a hearing on Friday. Three men arrested Sunday as suspicious persons were this morning released.

Monday being Labor Day, all places with liquor licenses were by law closed. So when Officer Watson looked into the store at 58 West Broadway and saw men standing at a bar, with glasses before them and foam in the glasses, he had his doubts. A search warrant was made out and Officers Loughlin and Watson made a raid. Five kegs of lager, four of them full; a half-barrel of ale, partly filled, and a sugar barrel with 74 bottles of Bohemian beer, also some cherry rum and glasses, were found and are now in the custody of the police.

The police had a boy for riding on the sidewalk. This has become a nuisance and Chief Crowley gave him a warning that prosecution would follow the next complaint. This is a warning which other boys can take.

Officer Dring was noticed this morning "calling down" a man for sweeping material into the street.

A complaint came from Girard avenue that pigs, supposed to belong to John Gardener, had invaded "Green Acre," which had not been prepared for pigs, and that the animals had not recognized the fact that "Green Acre" was arranged for human beings with some ideas as to the beautiful, and not for hungry pigs. The pound keeper was sent for, but failed to find the pigs. Again this morning a similar complaint came in.

RIOTING CONVICTS FREE PRISONERS.

Militia Ordered Out in Jackson to Subdue Rioters.

Every Man Being Induced to Act as a Special Guard.

JACKSON, Mich., Sept. 3.—Rioting convicts of Jackson prison overcoming all restraint shortly before noon today, entered the prison bull pen and liberated about 75 fellow prisoners. An hour later the prison authorities had the convicts apparently cowed by the presence of Jackson militia companies and firemen and special officers, who hurried to the scene immediately after the outbreak.

On fleeing convict, failing to halt when ordered, was shot by a guard shortly after noon today. The prisoner was running across the yard when told to stop and refusing, was dropped with a bullet from the gun in the hands of a special deputy.

When the prisoners reached the yard they began burning every thing within each, and, fearing they would se, the factories on fire, the city fire department was summoned and is now aiding in an endeavor to subdue the rioters.

Hundreds of shopmen and others are on the street surrounding the prison, and the special police, hastily summond, are having trouble in keeping the crowds orderly.

About 75 convicts were in the bull pens, which were opened by the inmates, and practically every prisoner secured weapons of some kind soon after getting liberty. Knives, hammers, etc., were used by the convicts in an endeavor to overpower the guards stationd inside the prison walls. On seeing the fire department enter the prison yard many of th rioters fled back into the prison while others hid in the various factory buildings, hoping to step over the walls when the opportunity offered. It is said that during the excitement three convicts scaled the walls and are now at liberetaoindeflod..selitorsh,rdlu etneinshrar

That the local prison officials fear the worst is not yet come was evident by noon, as in addition to the two militia companies, numbering about 200; members of the Lansing company of the National Guard was ordered to this city. Every man who can be induced to act as a special guard is being rushed to the prison. The supply of firearms at the prison has been exhausted, and heavy inroads are being made on the supply in the various hardware stores of the city.

A number of newspaper correspondents are said to have been sworn in as deputies and are unable to send reports to their papers, every man being placed under oath to remain silent as to conditions inside the walls.

COLLEGE GIRLS AS ATHLETES.

Not a Game Played by the Men That Has Not Its Enthusiastic Adherents.

[Jessie Tarvin, in Woman's Home Companion.]

The variety and strenuous character of the game indulged in by the college girl astonishes all who are unacquainted with prevailing conditions in institutions such as Vassar, Bryn Mawr, Smith, Wellesley and Holyoke, to mention only a few of the more representative women's colleges. It is safe to say that there is not a game played by men that has not its enthusiastic adherents in the girls' colleges. At Smith and Bryn Mawr basket ball is the event of chief importance, the teams sent out by the latter institution being quite renowned, while at Vassar tennis competes in interest with basket ball, and Holyoke, though not as pretentious as Vassar, has its sports and field day, and at one time they boasted a rink-polo club that was the feature of the winter life. Even base ball has its votaries, and the Vassar field day in spring would do fair credit to an athletic club meet with its 100-yard dash, 220-yard dash, relay races, running high jump, running broad jump, standing broad jump, fence vault, basket ball throw base ball throw, and putting the eight-pound shot all on the program. The scene in the arena of the grassy circle, screened by its tall evergreens, is a gay and animated spectacle not soon to be forgotten. The pink V on a Vassar girl's sweater, indicating that she has broken a record, is a hotly contested honor that makes its possessor the envied cynosure of all eyes.

Wellesley also has its field day, which occurs in the fall instead of in the spring, and is participated in most largely by the sophomores, juniors and seniors as an incentive to the entering freshmen, who thus have the spirit of emulation aroused at the outset of the school year. The program comprises tennis, golf, field hockey, low hurdling, relay racing and basket ball, but rowing is the great Wellesley specialty and float day is the event of the season. The fine features of all the games played by the students of this institution is the emphasis placed upon the recreative side of athletics, indulged in for the pure enjoyment of it; and the entrants in the various events of their famous float day are judged by skill and form rather than by speed.

ARTILLERY'S OUTING SHORTENED BY THE RAIN.

The members of the Newport Artillery Company shortened their annual outing because of the rain of Sunday and Monday and returned to their armory before noon Monday, abandoning the program as laid out for that time. They went into camp Saturday evening, soaked up a good deal of moisture from the rain o' Sunday and came home well wet to the skin. They had the experience and some of the hardships of life in camp, and while out did some shooting at their range.

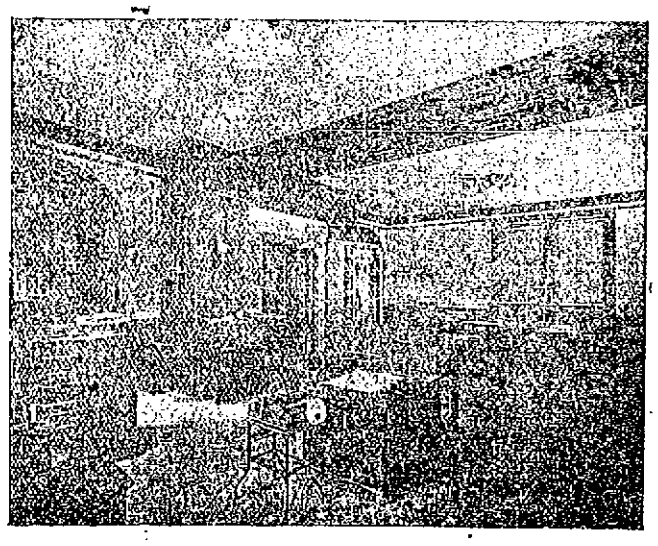

"COLLEGE LIFE TODAY."

[Randolph Silliman Bourne, in North American Review.]

When a score of undergraduates form a circle for the discussion of comparative religion, as was done last winter at Cornell, or a group of juniors and seniors meet twice a month to hear and discuss a paper on some philosophical or artistic question, as was done at Columbia, there would seem to be little need to worry about the intellectual quality of the college man. Spontaneous intellectual life like this has no room for the "grind" or the prig; they are both becoming as rare even as the professional "rah-rah" man in the big colleges. It sounds strange to the outside world to hear that there is real thinking and discussing done by the undergraduate, only because it has been led by contemporary writers to believe that the college was an intellectual waste. Looked at from the inside, however, as I have attempted to show, the "cultural" interests, as we may term them, hold their own equally with the athletics. Their societies and their meetings or performances, if the societies are dramatic or musical, are what are actually talked about on the campus. The "high society" life is esoteric and veiled.

The life of the average man, mixing democratically with all kinds of men, picking his friends according to their congenial interests and picturesque personality and never for their social position, active in some form of athletics and in one or two of the small societies, talking perhaps more than he reads, but awake to ideas of larger import than his own little world, and learning much from the sparks that he strikes from his companions and the criticisms he makes of his teachers and books, neither priggish nor trivial, either dull nor libations, susceptible to all the best currents of the life around him, knowing his professors as men, and his companions as fellow-adventurers in the "enterprise of learning"—such a life I like to think of as typical of the best of college life and the spirit which it represents as the true college spirit, the spirit which appreciates most profoundly, and sheds most glory upon, alma mater and her fair name. The materials for such a spirit and such a life are all there in the modern college.

DEATH OF MRS. CUTTING.

A Summer Resident for Many Years and a Liberal Benefactor of St. Mary's Church.

Mrs. Marian Ramsay Cutting, widow of Brockholst Cutting, died Sunday at her summer residence, "Wee Bush," on Bellevue avenue, after a long illness. After an extended residence in France and the death there of her son, William Cutting, 2d., in June, 1911, Mrs. Cutting returned to this country, coming to her Newport home and remaining until December. She then went to New York and came here again early in the summer. For some time she had been in poor health and during her stay here gradually failed, her death having been expected for the past two weeks.

The deceased first came to Newport in 1885, occupying the cottage which she later purchased, and in which she died. She and her husband came frequently to Newport and "Wee Bush" was purchased in 1894. After her husband's death Mrs. Cutting spent the greater part of the time in Europe, with her two sons, Brockholst Cutting, Jr., died in 1896 and William Cutting, 2d., a year ago.

Although living in Europe, Mrs. Cutting retained an interest in local affairs, especially in St. Mary's Church, to which she was a generous contributor. She erected a chapel in the convent of the church in memory of her son and later gave a large sum to Rev. William B. Meenan, the pastor, to be known as "St. Anthony's Bread," for the relief of the poor of the city, irrespective of creed, race or color. This was administered by Father Meenan. During the past year this fund was turned over to the St. Clare Home for its charitable purposes. Mrs. Cutting and her son were liberal contributors to the Police Relief Fund and other local charities.

Mrs. Cutting was a daughter of the late Captain William Ramsay, U. S. N., and a relative of Rear Admiral Francis M. Ramsay, U. S. N., (retired). Her husband was a son of F. Brockholst Cutting, a grandson of William Cutting and a lineal descendant of Leonard Cutting, who brought the family name to the United States. He was an uncle of Messrs. Robert Fulton and William Bayard Cutting of New York.

FREEBODY PARK VAUDEVILLE.

Rutan's Song Birds a Novelty and the Four Luciers Give a Good Musical Act.

Freebody Park had its usual large Monday evening audience, when a new bill was presented for the week. The vaudeville program opened with the Four Luciers in a musical act, in which the three men and one woman appeared in Louis XV costumes and rendered music on the piano, cornets, saxaphones, tenor horns and a variety of other instruments. The woman sang well and all played, Joseph Lucier, the blind artist, giving a cornet solo and participating in the quartet in a way that showed his musical ability to excellent advantage.

Zena Keife was clever in character songs and dance. Cornella and Wilbur gave a tumbling act in which were many feats which were new and difficult. Grant Gardner had a musical act in which he introduced some clever original comedy.

The feature of the bill was Rutan's Song Birds, five in number, in which the two juveniles made a decided hit, receiving recall after recall at the end of the act. It is a decided novelty and the boy and girl do some remarkable acting and dancing for children of their age. The introduction of the little girl is entirely new.

The pictures are good, the Bison film, "The Other Girl," being particularly interesting and well staged.

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED.

Improvement Association Appoints Committees on Poles and Wires and on Street Litter.

The Newport Improvement Association at its annual meeting Monday re-elected its officers, and a number of committees were appointed to continue work in hand. There were no annual reports.

The subject of poles and overhead wires was discussed and resolutions were passed asking for action against them as soon as possible. A committee comprising Dr. R. V. Mattison, Captain Joseph P. Cotton and Colonel J. W. Horton was appointed to keep the subject alive.

The matter of littering the streets received attention and a committee consisting of Dr. Mary E. Baldwin, Admiral F. E. Chadwick and Miss Ellen F. Mason was authorized to draw such money from the treatury as may be required in promoting this work.

Mrs. J. Griswold Wentz spoke on the destruction of the picturesqueness of the Newport Hospital lands in the southern part of the city by the quarrying of stone. The matter went to the executive committee.

The officers re-elected are as follows:

President—James Thompson Spencer.

Secretary—Silas Levy.

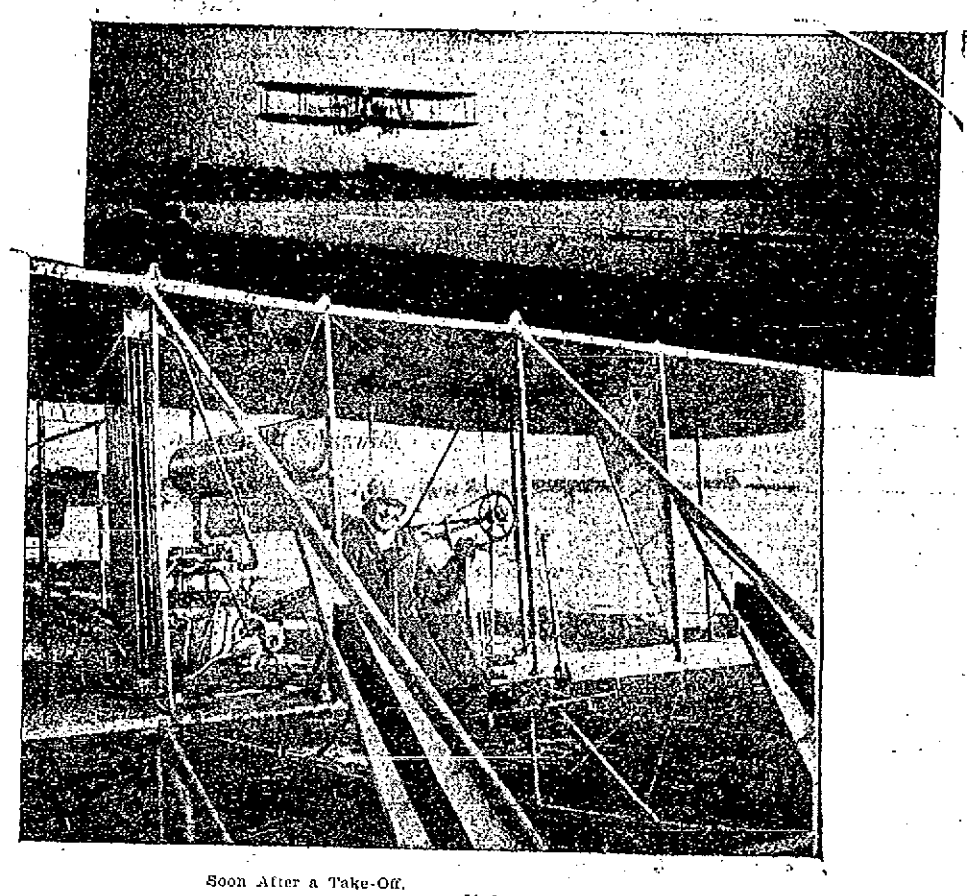

Treasurer—Peter King.

Executive Committee—Frederick F. Garrettson, chairman; Dr. Henry Barton Jacobs, Jeremiah K. Sullivan, Henry A. C. Taylor, Miss Ellen F. Mason, Mrs. French Vanderbilt, Guam M. Hutton.

A FRENCH COMEDY IN ENGLISH.

"Alma, Where Do You Live?" will be presented here by the original New York company which played at Weber's Theatre during a long run. Alma is a musical comedy, not a glorified burlesque show. A "vaudeville" they call it in France. The Englishman would name it a musical farce. New York called it a comic opera with an all-star cast and without a chorus. In fact, as with every piece, the public is more interested in its plot and construction than in its title. In the original text it was a "drolligue." The play has been re-written into English by George V. Hobart. Its fangs are extracted its dialogue subdued, its situations modified, in fact it is thoroughly groomed for domestic consumption, wholesome, palatable and fit for drawing-room discussion. Herve's foundation is all there and all of the contagious music by Jean Briquet, but the superstructure is all Hobart's.

THREE DAYS IN SOCIETY.

Luncheons, Dinners, Dances and Outings Given by the Summer Residents.

Luncheons were given Saturday by Mrs. Joseph Harriman, Mrs. Huntington Wilson and Miss Mabel Gerry, and by the Newport Fishing Club at Gooseberry Island. Miss Caroline Ogden Jones had a reception at her cottage, "Mideliff," Ochre Point.

Dinners were given Saturday night by Mrs. Frances Roche, Mrs. Clarence Pell, Mrs. Ogden Goelet, and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Colford Jones, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Pembroke Jones gave a large dinner Saturday at "Sherwood" for the Russian ambassador and Mme. Bahkmeteff, followed by the last in their series of dances. More than 300 guests attended the dance, which was held in the pavilion erected early in the season on the lawn.

Mr. and Mrs. Marsden J. Perry took a party of 50 guests in steamer Warwick to the Squantum Club for a shore dinner Saturday. They left early in the afternoon, and after a pleasant sail up the bay landed at Squantum, had dinner, and dancing later to the music of Conrad's orchestra. The steamer left Squantum at 9 o'clock for the return.

Miss Louise Iselin gave a dinner Sunday evening at the Pinard cottage, her guests including Mrs. R. T. Wilson, Misses Margaret and Katherine Stewart, Miss Mildred Rives and Messrs. E. J. Curley, Bayard Rives and Albert Eugene Gallatin.

Mrs. Adrian Iselin, Jr., gave a farewell luncheon Sunday. Mr. Iselin and the Misses Iselin left Monday for New Rochelle, N. Y., to prepare for the wedding of Miss Therese Iselin, this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Pembroke Jones gave a luncheon Sunday on steam yacht Narada, Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. C. Taylor entertained on steam yacht Wanderer and Mrs. Henry S. Redmond took a number to Narragansett Pier, where Mr. Henry Clews was host at a luncheon given for Mrs. Redmond's guests.

Luncheons were given Sunday by Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., at "Beaufieu," and by Mrs. George P. Messervy at the Pinard cottages. Dinners were given in the evening by Mrs. J. J. Wysong at "Greystone," Mrs. French Vanderbilt at "Harbourview," Mr. and Mrs. R. Livingston Beeckman at "Land's End," Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Harriman. Mr. and Mrs. Beeckman, among others, entertained the Russian ambassador and Mme. Bahkmeteff and the latter's guests, Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. McLean.

Mrs. James P. Kernochan gave an "at home" Sunday afternoon at her residence, "Sea View," Ochre Point, at which Madame Kitty Berger rendered several selections on the zitherharp.

Luncheons were given Monday by Mrs. Henry A. C. Taylor, Mrs. Henry S. Redmond, Mrs. W. Storrs Wells and Mr. Stanley Mortimer, the last-named entertaining his guests at the Clam Bake Club. Mrs. Clarence Pell gave a dinner Monday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Prince entertained at dinner at the Gilbert cottage, others coming in later for informal dancing and the enjoyment of several unique dances by professionals from New York.

Mrs. Clayton S. Dixon, Mrs. Andrew H. Morcland, Commander and Mrs. William V. Pratt, Mr. and Mrs. Marsden J. Perry, Mrs. Arthur Carroll, Mrs. Francis I. Gowen, Mrs. Benjamin Thaw and Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. McVickar entertained with box parties at Freebody Park.

"FINEST TURNOUT OF ANY CIRCUS."

The Great London Shows Consolidated will bring to Newport special importations in the way of new circus acts, in conjunction with a long string of American performers. Every department has been increased extensively, and it is claimed that the exhibition of blooded horses is the best ever offered. Among these are the wonderful Dublin Grays, the Pig Six, which have captured prizes at the prominent horse shows. They are valued at $25,000.

The parade, said to be "the finest turnout of any circus has ever made in any country," will traverse the principal streets morning of show day.

BAGS OF FLOUR AS BOMBS.

McGee Drops a Few on the Government Stations as a Test.

Early Sunday Morning Flight Over the City Follows Saturday's Ascent.

Bad weather prevented McGee from giving exhibitions at the beach Sunday, though in the early morning he made the most extensive flight during the time he has been in Newport. It also prevented him from going to Rocky Point to fill a Labor day contract. Still, during the five days here he made five flights, which is a much better average than some expected him to accomplish, taking into consideration Newport's reputation for breezes.

Early Sunday morning he made an unannounced flight, except for a few with whom the matter was discussed Saturday evening. It was planned to bombard the government stations at an early hour, with bombs thrown from the machine while passing over them. Bags of flour were used to represent the bombs. The time set was shortly after sunrise, and at 5 o'clock a small party were on the beach, arranging for the war flight. It was a beautiful morning, as the sun came up clear and there was only a light breeze stirring.

After the take-off McGee climbed for altitude and passing over Easton's Pond crossed the outer Broadway district, swung around over the Training Station, then the Torpedo Station and next Fort Adams. Then he returned over the summer residence section, circled to the east end of the beach and practiced a jump up from an attempted landing, such as he was compelled to make Saturday.

Upon alighting he jumped into his automobile and made a run up the island, for the purpose of laying out his flying route to Rocky Point.

In the still air of the morning the hum of the propellers was plainly heard on the earth and many were awakened from their slumbers while others were aroused by the shouting of milkmen who stopped to watch the airship. Some thought the noise was from a screaming automobile, others that the milkmen were jokers, while some jumped from their beds and gazed out of their windows at the show.

It was about 6 o'clock when he returned to the beach, having been in the air about 20 minutes and covered between five and six miles. During this time he did supposed theoretically to have destroyed the government works about Newport, and by his flight showed the possibility that an enemy's airships might do great damage, since their coming and going is too speedy for the training of present-day guns of war upon these high flyers.

Saturday afternoon McGee made a flight which was another graceful example of air sailing. The feature was the attempt to alight and a sudden return to a higher elevation, because the crowd would not give him the room required and this was his only way to prevent mowing them down. As he climbed over their heads most of them scampered back to their lines where they had been told to remain, some quite frightened, as they realized that they had probably escaped injury. There was a group of half a dozen women, though, who would not even then go back. Manager Boyle pleaded with them, but they were stolid. Then he said: "Well, stay." As if intent upon having their own way, they would not stay, but went back where the others had gone. In the meantime McGee flew over the beach, turned about over the water and then made his descent, this time reaching terra firma in the same gentle way as on previous flights.

It was a fine air in which to fly and there was a good-sized crowd in attendance, the people having come to the beach fast during the middle of the afternoon. When the show was over, they made good speed in returning to town.

McGee's next engagement to fly is at the Weymouth fair, beginning September 12. In the meantime he will remain at the beach here, and as his regular engagement is over will take up those who are anxious to fly, provided they have the price and are not of too great weight. He will have no stated times for going up and may not be expected to be in the air at other times than when he is taking passengers, for there is some enjoyment in flying when the weather conditions are right.

Mrs. F. Lothrop Ames Gives a Pretty Dance in the Annex at "The Ledges."

"The Ledges," the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Lothrop Ames on Ocean avenue, was the scene of a pretty little dance Monday evening, which Mrs. Ames gave for her employes and their friends. The affair was held in the annex, where Mrs. Ames sometimes entertains her friends after dinner. The building was formerly a studio and is situated close to the beach, in one of the most beautiful sites along the shore.

The decorations were much admired; they were not elaborate, but harmonized with the place, long chains of clematis and goldenrod extending from all corners of the room and being gathered in the centre. Flags and bunting were used in abundance at the entrances and overhead. One end of the hall had lattice work of the same flowers, with a Scotch thistle inserted here and there and two or three palms at the base. A dozen or more Japanese lanterns completed the effect. Professor Lodter's orchestra, in another part of the hall, was hidden in a bevy of palms and flowers.

From 10 o'clock until 1 the guests, numbering about 150, enjoyed themselves. During the intermission at 12 a buffet lunch was served, consisting of salad, ice cream, cake and coffee. While all the employes at "The Ledges" joined to make the occasion enjoyable for their friends, credit belonged especially to E. S. Johnson and Roderick McLean, who decorated the hall and attended to the other details of the affair.

Mrs. Ames, who bore all the expense, about a year ago toward the end of the season gave a similar entertainment for her help.

NOT A ONE-EXHIBITOR AFFAIR.

Winnings Distributed Among Many Owners, Adding to General Interest.

Horse Show Opens in Drizzle and Wet, But the Display as Good as Usual.

The sixteenth Newport Horse Show opened as usual on Labor day at the Casino, with weather which has come to be regarded as appropriate for the occasion each year. With a few exceptions it has been unpleasant in recent years, but this does not interfere with the exhibition. Nothing has been known to do that, while occasionally the horses have been shown in a driving rain and in water many inches deep on the track and there have always been many there to see. Monday there was rain in the morning and the promise of more in the afternoon. It amounted to a drizzle but kept things wet, and at times umbrellas were shown about the ring-side.

The Horse Show was one of the best in recent years. The Vanderbilt, Moore, Watson and Weatherbee entries, with which Newport has become familiar, were absent, but there are other good horses and they were shown here. It was not a one-exhibitor show and the winnings did not go all to one or two owners, but were distributed among many, the interest being thus maintained in a larger degree by the friends of a greater number. There were also several exhibitors new to Newport and a new interest was thus created.

The first day's card did not bring out a large number of harness classes and these will be the attraction of the last two days. There was one class, however, which created much interest. It was that for local horses owned by Newport residents or lessees of cottages for the season in Newport county. There was a fine lot of horses to appropriate vehicles, and the presence of Miss Alex Dolan, Miss Margaret Andrews, Mrs. James G. Wentz and Mr. P. A. Andrews driving added materially to the interest. Miss Dolan, a girl of about 12 years, drove her horse with skill and her win of the blue ribbon was deservedly popular. Miss Andrews shared the honors by taking the second prize.

The tandem class was one of the
